Types of base

When selecting a base for your Safari Table, it’s important to consider how and where the table will be used on a daily basis. You have the flexibility to choose between two practical options, each specifically designed to accommodate different mobility requirements and working environments. Whether you need a stable setup that stays mostly in one place or a highly mobile solution for frequent repositioning, there’s a base option to match your unique needs and preferences.

F0 - Wheeling system

F0 system composed of 2 legs with rubber feet and 2 small wheels for moving of Safari Table by lifting it from one side. The system is recommended for users who relocate their Safari Table less frequently.

F4 - Wheeling system

The system, composed of four directional castors (Ø75 mm) with a central brake, allows for quick and effortless relocation of the Safari Table, with or without a patient.

Upholstery in Safari Series

Choose the color most suitable for your office. The upholstery material is waterproof, antibacterial and easy to clean.
